

Walls of Dreams

Cherry Carl

People plan, or so it seems,
And build their lives made up of dreams.
They leave their native lands behind
With just some memories to remind
Themselves of people and the places
Traded for sweet freedom's faces.
Their talking walls are filled with themes
Of days gone by and dreamers dreams.
These walls are filled with people's art,
But it all begins within the heart.